Ashtabula County School Employee Credit Union Adds Credit Union 24 Network

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – August 31, 2009 – Credit Union 24, the country's largest credit union-owned ATM and point-of-sale (POS) network, announced today that Ashtabula County School Employee (ACSE) Credit Union in Ashtabula, Ohio has joined its network.

"The Credit Union 24 network will give our members access to over 50,000 surcharge-free ATMs and hundreds of thousands of POS terminal locations nationwide, while also supporting tourists who visit Ashtabula County," said Mike Riesterer, CEO of ACSE Credit Union. "This partnership benefits our members and our county's guests immensely. Tourism plays a large role in our county's economy, generating more than $175 million annually and supporting many of our members' financial livelihood, and now ACSE benefits those tourists who are members of Credit Union 24 participating credit unions by providing them with additional surcharge-free ATM and POS terminals while they visit our beautiful county."

Chartered in 1955, ACSE Credit Union serves almost 7,000 Ashtabula County residents and has more than $62 million in assets.

"Ashtabula County sees thousands of people enjoy their covered bridges, wineries and other tourist attractions each year, and having ACSE Credit Union join the network benefits traveling cardholders all over the nation with increased fee-free financial access in Ashtabula County," said Jim Park, president and CEO of Credit Union 24. "We're excited about this expansion of the network and look forward to serving ACSE Credit Union's membership with customized solutions to meet their exact needs."
