Wisconsin's Cloverbelt Credit Union Joins Credit Union 24 Network

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – July 13, 2009 – Credit Union 24, the country's largest credit union-owned ATM and point-of-sale (POS) network, announced today that Cloverbelt Credit Union of Wisconsin, one of the nation's oldest credit unions, has joined its network.

"We have continually grown during the past 70 years by consistently enhancing our customer service and financial product offerings, and our partnership with Credit Union 24 adds several more important services that we are proud to offer our members," said Cloverbelt Credit Union President Paul Chittum. "It is through exceptional financial products and services that we increase relations with our community members and help them grow financially stronger to then lead our credit union into the next 70 years."

Chartered in 1936 and headquartered in Wausau, Wisconsin, Cloverbelt Credit Union has three branches with more than 16,000 members and $140 million in assets. Cloverbelt Credit Union offers its members very competitive financial products, and encourages even its youngest members, ages 0-12, to be financially responsible and save, with rewards for making "A's" in school and awarding points for every $5.00 deposited. Points can be collected and redeemed for prizes.

"Cloverbelt Credit Union is a strong community partner and advocate for healthy financial growth," said Jim Park, president and CEO of Credit Union 24. "Cloverbelt Credit Union is an excellent example of how knowing one's community and directly engaging with all age groups provides a prosperous future for all involved, as exemplified by its more than 70 years of exceptional service."
