Credit Union 24 Welcomes NRS Community Development FCU to its Surcharge-Free ATM Network

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – December 8, 2009 – Credit Union 24, the country’s largest credit union-owned ATM and point-of-sale (POS) network, announced today that NRS Community Development FCU has joined its network.

“NRS Community Development FCU’s goal is to help individuals with low incomes improve their financial situation and increase their quality of life in the community, and through our financial services such as savings, loans and community-driven reinvestment, we foster this development while establishing achievable financial goals for our members,” said Eunice Rogers, CEO of NRS Community Development FCU. “Credit Union 24 supplements our member development process by providing the convenient, fee-free access to funds that our members need locally and nationally.”

Chartered in 1996, NRS Community Development FCU has nearly $1 million in assets and serves more than 300 members. The credit union is a community-based financial institution, targeting low-income citizens, small businesses and minority entrepreneurs. NRS Community Development FCU offers members a variety of financial services including small business loans, personal loans, savings accounts, share certificates, automobile financing, Christmas Club accounts and financial counseling.

“Guidance through important financial situations teaches small business and entrepreneur members how to make smart financial decisions to create a successful, stable business that will continue to grow in the future,” said Jim Park, president and CEO of Credit Union 24. “By offering these services to business individuals, NRS Community Development FCU is also helping develop the community’s economy by providing a healthy business environment for employment and consumer needs.”
